Teach Me If You Can 2.0:

This is the second edition of the project Teach me if you can which is based on Education, it aims to run intensive program in order to tackle the illiteracy issue.

The project is about Teaching kids (8-16 years old) English, French and programming different sessions as games, workshops (music, theater, drawing...) to make the kids more motivated.

These children are ones who have difficulties at school, financial difficulties and who are exposed to delinquency. So the program will be a way to improve their self-esteem and get them out from the hard time that they are facing in their daily life.
